1. SCOPE OF WORK

This document defines the technical design specification for the Offshore Platform Alpha project. All engineering deliverables shall comply with the requirements stated herein. Reference document number CEP210090ER at revision 03 applies to all subsystems.

The design shall account for environmental loading conditions as specified in the metocean data package. All structural calculations shall be performed in accordance with relevant codes and standards.

All drawings and specifications issued under this document reference (CEP210090ER) shall be subject to formal review and approval prior to release for construction.
